HARDY HEATHERS—ERICA-CALLUNA

Mr. E. H. Wilson, writing in the Arnold Arboretum Bulletin under date of July 30th, 1927, says: "Heather is much more hardy than is generally supposed and can be grown successfully over the greater part of New England and other regions enjoying a similar climate, always supposing that lime is absent from the soil. It loves full exposure to the sun and winds and must not be coddled. Clipping low in the spring results in a wealth of cherry, bright green, erect shoots which as August approaches are transformed into spikes of white, pink and red-purple blossoms. It is an excellent ground-cover. The secret of its successful culture is its full exposure and an annual spring clipping. In districts where a decent snowfall prevails no winter protection is necessary, but where the snowfall is sparse a few pine boughs should be thrown across the plants to break the direct rays of the sun in late February and March. Heather should be planted much more abundantly in New England, not only for its beauty, but as a ground-cover and mulch among Azaleas and other choice surface-rooting shrubs."

AROMA. This is one of the old reliable midseason to late varieties and extensively planted in many sections. Produces large crops of perfect shape light red berries with a bright green cap.

BIG JOE. In a list of the five best varieties you will most always find Big Joe. Ripens in midseason. Does well on most all types of soil, plant very vigorous, and productive of large, bright red berries with a large green cap; good shipper and a good seller.

BLAKEMORE. Another early variety developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and we believe it the best of all the early berries where it does well. However, it does not seem to do as well as the Premier in some sections. A cross between Premier and Missonary; a good plant maker; a heavy producer of bright red berries, ripening a little ahead of Missionary; bright green caps; medium to large, round to conical; firm and a good keeper and shipper.

CATSKILL. An introduction of the New York Experiment Station. Highly recommended. The largest and most productive of all the midseason varieties. Considered the best midseason variety. You will be safe in pushing Catskill especially for northern growers. Note our very low price on this.

CHESAPEAKE. This is the finest dessert berry of the late varieties and will keep better and sell at higher prices than any other late berry we know of. The fruit is large and handsome and will stay so until the end of the fruiting season. Berries are a rich glossy red with bright yellow seed, have a large green cap and are very uniform size. Chesapeake is firm and will carry to the markets in the best of condition.

DORSETT. Another early berry developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The berries are medium to light in color, firm and of excellent flavor; in fact Dorsett and Fairfax are considered the two best flavored of all the early varieties. They are both good sellers bringing a premium over all varieties in the markets. They are new varieties, good healthy growers, extra quality fruit, heavy producers, good sellers, and the demand for plants of these two varieties is probably the heaviest of any variety ever introduced.

FAIRFAX. What we say about Dorsett also applies to Fairfax with the difference in the color of the fruit; Dorsett is a brighter red than Fairfax but seems to be equally as productive and as good a grower. Fairfax sells better.

GANDY. Fifty years old and still good as an extra late berry if given a good fertile moist soil. The berries are strictly fancy, large, good quality, bright red with a large green cap. A good keeper and shipper.

GIBSON. Another old standard midseason variety. Heavy fruiter of the bright red berries with an attractive green cap; good for canning and preserving but does not carry well to distant markets.

HOWARD 17. This is so near like Premier that it is hardly possible to tell any difference although some growers think it better.

LUPTON. One would not likely grow this variety if he was going to eat the fruit himself as it does not begin to have the quality of some of the others but it is very attractive and shows up so well when it arrives on the market that it most always brings the tops prices and this is what the commercial grower is interested in. Good grower, late, attractive and sells well.

PREMIER. For a good many years this has been the best plant seller of them all, hence, has been a profitable one for the berry grower. Early, almost frost resistant, always producing good crops, attractive, good grower, productive, medium to large berries, and if not too wet at picking time a good shipper but if there is a lack of sunshine the berries do not keep well. In some sections they will not plant anyhting else for a crop of early berries. Plant it; sell it.

WM. BELT. This is one of the best flavored of the late berries. The berries are irregular in shape, fairly large, bright glossy red with a green cap. For a home garden or local market Wm. Belt is still good.

FALL BEARERS. These berries are now so generally known that it is hardly necessary to say much about them. Mastodon is recognized as being the best for commercial purposes. Champion or Progressive is the old standard one and probably the best flavored. Gem is one of the newest and very highly recommended by the introducers, and is doing well with us this season. Lucky Strike is the spiciest of all strawberries, and it is also fairly productive.

TROWBRIDGE GRAFTING WAX

Probably the best known Grafting Wax on the market. It was formulated about 86 years ago and consists of high grade Gum Rosin, Beeswax and Tallow. Extreme care is exercised in blending these ingredients in order that Trowbridge Grafting Wax may be possessed of the most even consistency and elasticity of any.

Trowbridge Grafting Wax is preferred by most nurserymen and orchardists since it may be used either by the warmth of the hands or by melting in a suitable melting pot. When used by the hands, one should grease their hands well when using it. When used by melting, the wax is applied with a small brush.

It is used for grafting, budding, top working, etc., of all kinds of fruit, ornamental trees, shrubs and vines. It is unexcelled for use in painting cuts, bruises and after trimming.

Price 50c per pound, 10 lbs. or more at 40c per pound.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

State Horticultural Department—Certificate of Nursery Inspection

This is to Certify, that on the 27th day of July, 1937, we examined the nursery stock of the Tingle Nursery Co., growing in their nurseries at Pittsville, County of Wicomico, State of Maryland, in accordance with the laws of Maryland, 1898, Chapter 289, Section 58, and that said nurseries and premises are apparently free, so far as can be determined by inspection, from the San Jose Scale, Peach Yellows, Pear Blight and other dangerously injurious insect pests and plant diseases.

Azaleas

Growing Azaleas is one of our specialties

Varieties with an asterisk * are the hose-in-hose or double type.

Each X means one transplanting.

Our 1-yr. field beds XX trans. have been grown in the greenhouse one year and in outside beds one year thus making them really two years old. The 2-yr. in field beds XX trans. are two years from greenhouse and thus three years old.

Kurume Azaleas

The Kurume Azaleas have been known to America only about 15 years, but in that time they have made wonderful progress as hardly a garden but what has one or more varieties of this wonderful type of Azaleas. They are also well adapted to forcing—thousands of them being sold for Mother's Day, Easter and Decoration Day. They are comparatively easy to grow and they make such a wonderful display that the demand is continually increasing. Many of the varieties are hardy out of doors as far north as Long Island. They are extremely floriferous, and in season the blossoms completely cover the flowers. The colors are of almost every hue and shade as you will find below.

AZALEAS AND CAMELLIAS By H. H. Hume

Interest in Azaleas and Rhododendrons is greatly increasing. Until now, little information on varieties, care, and culture of these plants has been available. Mr. Hume accurately and thoroughly describes the varieties best suited for various uses and discusses questions on culture, such as soils, fertilization, planting, propagating, and general care, indoors and out. He has taken special care to describe accurately the several groups and varieties, and his suggestions on the use and culture are very practical. If you are growing Azaleas and Rhododendrons you will find this book of much help. While the book is titled Azaleas and Camellias it applies equally to Rhododendrons. $1.50.
